Maurice, here are the files you need to run the Daily Verification test for HAL to get your daily booking. If the OLCI or Secondary fails, don't worry about it. You only need the booking number, right? I will fix anything else that goes wrong when I get back.

If you run into trouble, you can consult with Manuel, as he has trained a little bit on this. I have attached the document he put together for himself for running Parts 1 and 2.

You will need to install Firefox add-ons Selenium IDE, File Logging (Selenium IDE) and ScreenShot on Error (Selenium IDE). They can all be found by clicking on Add-ons in the Firefox hamburger menu. You may have to search for them.

One file will need special treatment. goto_sel_ide.txt will need the extension changed to .js.

Good luck!

(Of course, as you pointed out you can do this manually if needed. Just keep in mind that all test bookings need “Test” in the last name so that the PCCs won’t waste time trying to sell to someone who cancelled a booking. I’ve been down that road and it’s embarrassing. You can still use my account to do this, but you will want to save the booking number to put into the “share” email.)
